

compound event

In probability, an event that is made up of two or more events.