

Commutative Property of Multiplication

The property which states that the order of factors does not change the product. It is also called the Order Property of Multiplication.

Example: $4 \times 3 = 3 \times 4$