

circle

A closed figure in which every point is the same distance from a given point called the center of the circle.