

independent event

In probability, when the outcome of one event is not dependent upon the outcome of another event.