

How to make: Divide the bulletin board into 7 sections as shown. Use a contrasting colored background for each section and border the sections in black. Title the sections with the career categories shown or with any other categories suggested by the Basic and Review Words. Cut out large letters for “Career Words” from contrasting colored paper.

How to use: Have students collect and display material related to each career: photos from magazines, want ads, and news or feature articles. Post Basic Words that fit the career categories from Units 7–11 and add other related words that students think of. Check out library books on the careers featured and display them by the bulletin board.

For extra credit, students might write reports on the different careers: why they would be interesting, what preparation is needed for entering them, and what the salary expectations are. Some students might interview people who have these jobs. Display any such reports and interviews.