

Spelling Game

Chain Reaction

Players: 3 to 5 players, a caller

You need: 3 to 5 chairs, one for each player; Unit 9 Basic Word list

How to play: Arrange the chairs in a row. Choose a student to be the caller. The five players stand up in front of the five chairs.

- The caller says one Unit 9 Basic Word. The first player says the first letter of the word, the second player says the second letter, the third player says the third letter, and so on.
- If any player hears an incorrect letter, he or she should clap loudly once. The caller can check the list to see if the word was spelled correctly or not.
- If an incorrect letter was given, the player who said it is eliminated and must sit down. If the letter was correct, the player who clapped must sit down.
- Once the word is spelled, the caller says whether or not the word was spelled correctly. If it wasn't, players try once again to spell the word.

The game continues until all the Basic Words have been spelled or only one person is left standing.
