

Cave Formation

Weak acids formed in rainwater seep into the ground, where they weather rock.

Over time, holes are produced. Eventually, the holes grow into caves.