

Reading a Newspaper

Newspapers are important sources of information about your community and state. Newspapers describe events that affect the history, geography, economics, culture, and government of the community.

Getting Started

1. Study the Index below to learn how the newspaper is organized into many sections.
2. Read the article to find out how a newspaper can be a source of information about your community.

Community News

Index

Community News,
Section A

National and World News,
Section B, page 6

Help Wanted, Section C,
page 10

Classified Ads, Section D,
page 18

Real Estate, Section E,
page 20

Editorials, Section F, page 30

March 20—Barbara Jones was awarded the community's Good Citizenship Award for her work in cleaning up Robinson Park. Jones led a group of 15 students from the Jackson School to keep the park clean for over six months.

Barbara Jones has been a community hero for years. She has led many projects. She helped build new ramps outside the post office, and raised money for the fire department to fix old library books.