

3 Commands and Exclamations

Commands	Exclamations
Don't forget your manners.	How important manners are!
Please listen carefully.	What a great teacher you are!

A Write the correct end mark for each sentence. Label each sentence command or exclamation.

- How important manners are _____
- Always thank your friends after they help you _____
- Use the word please when asking for something _____
- Hold the door for the person behind you _____
- Never talk when someone else is talking _____
- How annoying that is _____

B 7–15. Anna's poster has three missing capital letters and six incorrect or missing end marks. Use proofreading marks to correct the poster.

Example: How annoying bad telephone manners are!

Proofreading

Telephone Manners

- Be polite and friendly.
- say your name clearly
- Listening carefully is a must
- how rude it is to chew gum
- speak slowly
- Do not shout into the phone!
- Hang up the receiver quietly

on the telephone.

Proofreading Marks

- ¶ Indent
- ^ Add
- ~ Delete
- ≡ Capital letter
- / Small letter

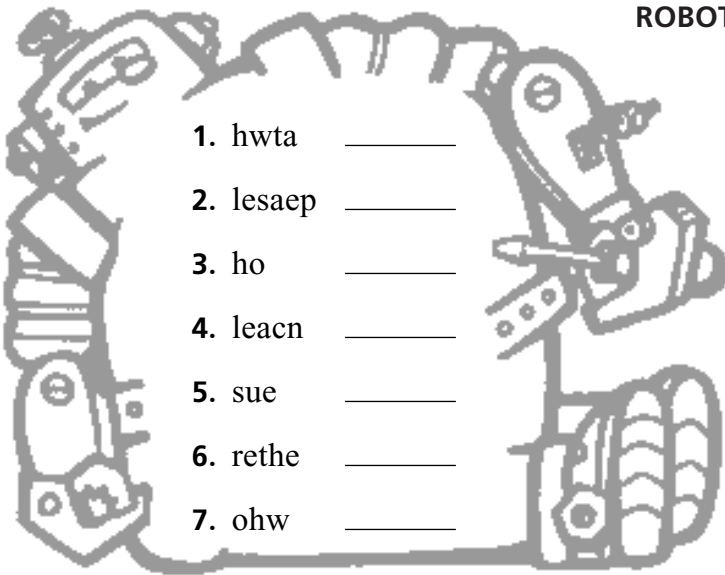

(continued)

3 Commands and Exclamations (continued from page 7)

Challenge

Unscramble the letters in the robot to make words. Match these words to the correct sentence parts to make commands and exclamations.

ROBOT UNRAVEL

1. hwta _____
2. lesaep _____
3. ho _____
4. leacn _____
5. sue _____
6. rethe _____
7. ohw _____

- oil my wires
- a mess I am
- my switch is broken
- wonderful I look
- the right tools
- are so many parts to fix
- my rusty clamps

Now write the completed commands and exclamations. Use capital letters and end marks correctly.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____
6. _____
7. _____

Writing Application: A Journal

EXPLAINING

Suppose that you are teaching your new pet to behave. Write at least three commands and two exclamations that tell how you would train your pet. Be sure to use capital letters and end marks correctly.

