IN UNIT F, students build on their understanding of measuring distance, area, volume, weight, capacity, time, and temperature using the U.S. customary system. They apply the skills they develop to real-world measurement situations. They also develop their abilities to estimate a variety of measurements and to use measurements to solve problems.