Suppose that your parents are considering sending you to summer school. Think about whether or not this is a good plan for you. Write to your parents to persuade them that you should or should not go to summer school.

There are plenty of reasons why I shouldn’t go to summer school. First of all, summer break is my paycheck, and I don’t want to waste a single penny. Secondly, it isn’t needed. Finally, it’s just a reminder. Therefore, I shouldn’t go to summer school.

Summer belongs to me. I love summer even when it’s hot outside. Summer is definitely better than winter. I’ve worked hard for these days to come. I deserve a break. You shouldn’t take it away from me.

Summer school is not necessary. For one, it is just a waste of time. My education will not go up. There’s no point in going. That’s why summer school is not necessary.

Summer school does not teach me more than I know. It’s for kids who failed or need help. It just reviews what they have failed. In fact, you don’t learn. That is why summer school doesn’t teach me.

That should be enough to convince you. You’re just not helping me if you send me to summer school. It’s not necessary. After all, it’s just review.