Kin Bee

Objective
To use possessive nouns to show family relationships

Players
Any number, divided into 2 teams

You will need
21 index cards

Before playing
Copy one noun that names a family relationship onto each index card. Do not repeat nouns. (See sample list below.)

How to play
1. Place the cards facedown between the two teams.

2. Player 1 on Team A draws a card and writes on the chalkboard a question for which the noun on the card is the answer. The question must include at least one possessive noun. For example, if the player draws the noun grandmother, the question might be Who is your mother’s mother? If the player does not write the possessive noun correctly, he or she is out. If the possessive noun is written correctly, the first player from Team B must answer the question.

3. Players take turns drawing cards from the deck, with a player on Team A followed by a player on Team B. A player who gives an incorrect answer is out. (If there is disagreement about whether an answer is correct, use a dictionary to look up the definition of the noun.)

Scoring
The team that has more players left after all the cards have been drawn is the winner.

Nouns That Name Family Relationships

| grandmother | son-in-law |
| father-in-law | father |
| aunt | granddaughter |
| grandfather | mother |
| mother-in-law | sister |
| uncle | great-grandmother |
| grandson | stepdaughter |

Who is your father’s brother’s child?
Who is your grandmother’s son’s father?
Who is your wife’s father?
Who is your mother’s grandmother?
Who is your father’s brother?